Atopic Dermatitis: Point of View of Pediatrics

Eiichi IMAMURA*

Abstract

The standard of diagnosis of atopic dermatitis is now yet discussed, and in case of infant, the differential diagnosis on seborrheic dermatitis is necessary.

The frequency of atopic dermatitis is 7-8% in 3-11 months old and 6% in 3 years old by my research on 6,410 cases. The result will be expected which was taken on all over Japan by the Ministry of Welfare, October 1992.

There are many discussions on the relation between atopic dermatitis and food allergy. The diagnosis of food allergy is also confused. The troubles on growth occurred by severe food elimination are criticized.

Key words: atopic dermatitis, seborrheic dermatitis, food allergy, food elimination
